The proposed corrected drawing filed February 5, 2005 has been approved.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 12-16 and 18-21 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Regarding claim 18, the prior art of record fails to show a portable headrest including a head-support portion that is adapted for extending far enough outward from the seat back such that the head-support portion will resist lateral bending of a user's neck and lateral rotation of the user's head, the head-support portion comprising a head-support surface being opposite the base portion such that the user's head may rest laterally against the head-support surface and dorsally against the front surface of the seat back, in combination with other specifically claimed features. Regarding claim 21, the prior art of record fails to show a portable headrest including a head-support portion having a surface opposite from the base portion, that is connected to the base portion, adapted for extending far enough outward from the seat back such that the head-support portion will resist lateral bending of a user's neck and lateral rotation of the user's head, and receives the user's head on the surface opposite from the base portion such that the back of the user's head rests not against the base portion, but, when used in combination with the seat back, rests substantially against the plane of the front surface of the sea back, in combination with other specifically claimed features.
